Cranbrook Choral Society's Autumn Concert is a performance of Haydn's masterpiece 'The Seasons'. His work is a celebration of the seasons of the year from spring to winter's end. With its magnificent overture, glorious choruses and sublime arias, Joseph Haydn's 'The Seasons' brings to mind his other great work 'The Creation'. 'The storm chorus in 'Summer' rivals Beethoven's storm in The Pastoral and the crescendo as the sun rises is thrilling'. Edward Greenfield.

We hope you will join us in Kent's 'Cathedral in the Weald', St. Dunstan's Church, Cranbrook. The town's fine 100 voice choir will be accompanied by the Cranbrook Sinfonia, an orchestra of mainly professional musicians, including former members from the major London orchestras, conducted by the Society's Director of Music, Jeffrey Gray.

The soloists are:

Julie Cooper - Soprano

Thomas Hobbs - Tenor

Rupert Reid - Baritone

All have performed as soloists at major concert halls in the UK and across the world.
